SUSTAINABLE COLLECTION

Nadar Gin & Vodka, Scotland

A brilliant distillery from the east coast of Scotland, Arbikie came up with a unique way to nitrate their soil between harvests - using the humble pea!

Kirsty, their head distiller, pioneered a method using peas as a base for this new range which has claims to being the 1st Climate Positive Spirit.

You can find their Gin in our 'Living Wall' cocktail alongside pine and bergamot liqueurs, mint, lime & soda.

Copalli Cacao Rum, Belize

This appealing white Rum is made from locally sourced, organic sugar cane and cacao grown in the Rainforest. What makes Copalli all the more sustainable is that every one of their efforts in turn supports their local ecosystem. Water for the rum comes from the rainforest canopy, used sugar cane husks fire their boiler and the ash and harvested leaves are then used to fertilise the sugar cane fields. If for some reason you still aren't convinced (and we can't imagine that's the case), check out their website as they do so much more than we have space to write about!

Indulge with our 'Cacao Nib' cocktail which blends together Copalli Cacao, Campanero Extra Anejo, lime & pineapple.

SUSTAINABLE SPIRITS SELECTION

Discard Spirits, Scotland

This unique brand has a mission to fight food waste.

Whether it is through their Banana Peel Rum, Cascara Vermouth (Coffee Berry Husk) or their Chardonnay Grape Skin Vodka, these spirits all battle food waste by using elements of production that are rarely used including the grape skins, stems and lees in their vodka and the berry that surrounds the coffee bean in their vermouth.

Find their vermouth in our 'The Oxford' cocktail and the delicious Chardonnay Vodka in 'Lemons for Chardonnay' martini.
